GREENE COUNTY DEBRIS MEETING

MAY 25, 2017

The debris committee met on May 25, 2017 at the courthouse annex. Present were: Commissioners Lyle Parton, Robin Quillen, Mayor Crum, Tim Tweed and Trevor Hensley from building and zoning and Cameron Judd and Reid Seals from Greeneville Sun and Radio Greeneville, respectively.

Guests present were: Mike and Joyce Meadows, Linda Webb, Sherry Webb, all from Kenneytown Road, Dot Alexander, Bette and Jennings Thomley.

First discussed was the clean up on Kenneytown Road. The first bidder reneged on the job after seeing the enormity of it. The commission voted to give 3 thousand more dollars to use on that particular clean up. The residents of the Kenneytown property need to evacuate the property, but they are still living on a camper on the premises. The house and property have been condemned. The neighbors feel threatened by the family living on the property. The place will be cleaned up.

The debris department has used twice the money normally spent sending out notices and for clean up the past year.

We also have complaints from River Shoals with vacant lots grown up there. Also, 131 Doty Lane will be cleaned up when the money comes available. 1075 Whitehouse Road property has been checked on for cleanup. The man is deceased and the woman is in a nursing home. Notices have been sent. Also, 1680 Kingsport Hwy. on the corner of Kiser Blvd. and highway is on the list for clean up.

Tim has 140 open files as of today. Since the debris ordinance began in 2004, over 1200 properties have been cleaned up. After many letters and notices have been sent, we can do a consecutive ad in the paper for 2 weeks for cleanup. If no response, we can move forward with clean up on our own.

Our next meeting will be on June 29 at 3:00 PM at the courthouse annex.

Respectfully submitted,

Robin Quillen

REGULAR MEETING

0900 AM - BOARD ROOM AT THE TOWN OF GREENEVILLE

The GGCAA met in Regular Session at the appointed time and place. Authority signed in attendees included Chair Janet Malone, Vice Chair John Carter, Paul Burkey and John Waddle. Timer White was absent. Greene County Mayor Crum, Greeneville Mayor Daniels and Greeneville Town Administrator Smith also attended.

1. CALL TO ORDER Chairperson Malone
2. INVOCATION Ms. Susong
3. PLEDGE led by Mr. Burkey
4. APPROVAL OF THE SECRETARY'S REPORT

Reviewed meeting Minutes for 27 March 2017 – Regular Session. Motion to approve by Mr. Waddle with second by Mr. Carter. Vote was approved unanimously.

5. CHAIRMAN'S COMMENTS:

Chairperson Malone offered several comments:

- a. The Tennessee legislative proposal for an aviation fuel tax cap that we discussed at the last meeting has been deferred to the next legislature in 2018.
- b. TDOT Aeronautics performed a pavement review of the airport on 14 April. This is pursuant to the requirement that all airports have a Pavement Management Plan (PMP). After the GGCAA receives the results of that review, it will have to produce and approve a PMP as part of its Operating Standards.
- c. Manis Excavating LLC will begin construction within the next 2-3 weeks for the Med Trans Site Development that the GGCAA approved last meeting. The lease for Med Trans is in legal review and will need approval at the next meeting.
- d. The Smoky Mountain Region Porsche Club Event is on track for 30 April.

6. FINANCE RELATED ITEMS

Financial Statement for March 2017. After review, Mr. Waddle made a motion to accept. Mr. Carter seconded. Vote for approval was unanimous.

7. Old Business

- a. Ms. Susong requested that the GGCAA reconsider the timing for re-bidding the auditor's contract, which the Authority approved in February. She requested that the re-bid be postponed for a year. This would maintain continuity through the FY2016-2017 audit so that all the construction project, litigation and re-financing could be reviewed to their conclusion by the same firm. After discussion, the Authority agreed to suspend the rules and vote for the postponement. Mr. Waddle made the motion that the Authority postpone the re-bid for one year. Mr. Burkey seconded the motion. Vote for approval was unanimous.
- b. The 1998 Jeep Cherokee, the crew car which was approved for re-sale in March, sold to a high bidder for $1010. The money will go to the Town of Greeneville since the vehicle was titled in the City's name. Mayor Crum recommended that we use govdeals.com for future re-sales.
- c. The GGCAA reviewed the 2016-2017 budget that Mr. Waddle and Ms. Davis assembled for the current year. They have also assembled 2017-2018 draft budget but still needed repair estimates and few other items to make it presentation ready. Mr. Waddle recommended that we have a called meeting at 1000 on Friday 28 April to review that draft budget.

8. New Business

- a. TDOT Aeronautics is re-locating most Automated Weather Observation Systems (AWOS) throughout the State because many were mis-located too close to other structures. They need to be at least 500 feet from any structure. The GGC Airport's AWOS is too close to the fuel tanks and TDOT has requested a land agreement to move it to another area that will not conflict with current operations at TDOT expense. Legal counsel has reviewed the proposed agreement and concurs that there will be no cost to the GGCAA. Mr. Waddle made the motion that the GGCAA approve the acceptance of the agreement and authorize Chairperson Malone to sign the agreement. Mr. Carter seconded the motion. Vote for approval was unanimous.
- b. The GGCAA considered the purchase of a replacement courtesy/crew car for the Jeep Cherokee that sold in April. The Greeneville Police Department had a 2004

Chevy Impala in good condition with approximately 75,000 miles available for $1000. Mr. Carter made the motion to approve the purchase. Mr. Burkey seconded the motion. Vote for approval was unanimous.

9. GROUP REPORTS

- a. Greeneville Aviation Services (FBO): Mr. Steve Knight reported. T-Hangars are all leased though there has been some turnover.
- b. Civil Air Patrol (CAP) – Mr. Onkst was present. The CAP has 16 members and 10 cadets.
- c. GAA – No Report
- d. AOPA – Mr. Hauser was present.
- e. Experimental Aircraft Association (EAA) – No Report
- f. Jump Tennessee – They have several new students.

10. ADJOURN Motion by Mr. Burkey, Second by Mr. Waddle. The next called meeting will be at 1000 on Friday 28 April at City Hall. Next regular meeting will be at 0900 on Tuesday 30 May at City Hall.

GREENEVILLE GREENE COUNTY AIRPORT AUTHORITY 28 April 2017 CALLED BUDGET MEETING 1000 AM - BOARD ROOM AT THE TOWN OF GREENEVILLE

The GGCAA met in Called Session at the appointed time and place. Authority signed in attendees included Chair Janet Malone, Vice Chair John Carter, Timer White, Paul Burkey and John Waddle. Greeneville Town Administrator Smith also attended.

1. CALL TO ORDER Chairperson Malone
2. The only agenda item for this meeting was the 2017-2018 Budget review and preparation for presentation to the City and County.
 - a. Mr. Waddle presented estimated revenues and expenditures for FY17-18. Ms. Susong and Ms. Davis assisted in reconciling several items in correct accounting terms, mainly involving how to account for the three grant accounts that will provide revenue in that FY.
 - b. After discussion and corrections, the draft budget showed projected revenues of $406,960 and projected expenditures $464,354, a shortfall of $57,394. Much of that shortage is for projected repairs that have been put off for many years but need addressing soon. They include various roof repairs and restroom refurbishment in the terminal building, among others.
 - c. The GGCAA discussed revenue sources, which include hangar leases, fuel flow taxes, grants and local government contributions. The most likely source of increased revenues would be fuel flow tax, if we can increase fuel sales, and local government contributions.
 - d. If we request increases on local contributions, the request would be for equal shares from the City and County. That could be up to $28,697 each.
 - e. Mr. Waddle made the motion to approve the budget as modified and have Mr. Burkey and Mr. Waddle present it to the County Budget Committee as soon as possible (as early as Wednesday 3 May), followed by the City. Mr. Carter seconded the motion. Motion was approved unanimously.

3. The meeting was adjourned. Next regular meeting will be at 0900 on Tuesday 30 May at City Hall.

RESOLUTION C: A RESOLUTION TO ADOPT THE PROVISIONS OF T.C.A. 67-4-601 (b) (5) TO IMPOSE AN ADDITIONAL PRIVILEGE TAX
OF TEN DOLLARS ($10.00) ON LITIGATION IN ALL CIVIL AND CRIMINAL CASES

A motion was made by Commissioner Collins and seconded by Commissioner Carpenter to approve a resolution to adopt the provisions of T.C.A 67-4-601 (b) (5) to impose an additional privilege tax of ten dollars ($10.00) on litigation in all civil and criminal cases.

County Attorney Roger Woolsey explained that the two-thirds vote was required because permission to create a second judgeship had come through a private act of the Tennessee legislature. The additional privilege tax of ten dollars on litigation tax paid in Greene County civil and criminal courts would help fund the proposed second judge position.

General Sessions and Juvenile Court Judge Ken Bailey Jr. explained his reasons for requesting a second judge in his court, describing a schedule that has him in the courtroom five days a week, with little time for other functions of his job.

Judge Bailey told the Commission that a second request he has made in the budget, for an addition of another staff member in the juvenile court, was more important than the second judgeship.

Mayor Crum called on the Commissioners to vote on their keypads. The following Burkey, Carpenter, Clemmer, Collins, McAmis, Neas, Parton, Patterson, Peters, Quillen, Randolph, Tucker, and Waddell voted yes. Commissioners Arrowood, Jennings, Miller, Shelton, and White voted no. Commissioners Cobble, Kesterson, and Waddle were absent. The vote was 13 – aye; 5 – nay; and 3 absent. The motion to approve the resolution failed. A two-thirds majority vote of 14 votes was needed to pass the resolution.

A RESOLUTION TO ADOPT THE PROVISIONS OF T.C.A. §67-4-601(b)(5) TO IMPOSE AN ADDITIONAL PRIVILEGE TAX OF TEN DOLLARS ($10.00) ON LITIGATION IN ALL CIVIL AND CRIMINAL CASES

WHEREAS, Greene County, Tennessee is presently served by one duly elected General Sessions and Juvenile Court Judge who has the sole responsibility to hear and decide both civil and criminal cases as well as juvenile matters properly brought before him in Greene County and for which he has the general jurisdiction as provided in T.C.A. § 16-15-501 and T.C.A. 37-1-103 and 104; and

WHEREAS, Based on the current population of Greene County and the number of cases filed for consideration by the General Sessions and Juvenile Courts the Greene County Legislative Body sought approval for a private act from the Tennessee General Assembly establishing the position of Judge for Court of General Sessions of Greene County, Tennessee, Division II which Private Act was approved on the 11th day of May, 2017; and

WHEREAS, Pursuant to T.C.A. §67-4-601(b)(5), Greene County is authorized to impose a privilege tax on all civil and criminal cases in any of the various courts in Greene County, excluding municipal courts in an amount not to exceed $25.00 per case; and

WHEREAS, Presently, pursuant to the authority granted to the County under T.C.A. §67-4-601(b)(5), a privilege tax of $12.50 is being collected to retire the debt obligation on the Greene County Courthouse, Detention Center and Workhouse (Fund 151).

WHEREAS, In order to provide the revenues to fund another General Sessions Judge's position and salary, it would appear that it would be in the best interest of Greene County and its citizens to impose an additional $10.00 privilege tax (for a total privilege tax of $22.50, pursuant to T.C.A. §67-4-601(b)(5)) on all civil and criminal cases filed in Greene County excluding cases in the municipal courts.

NOW, THEREFORE; be it resolved by the Greene County Legislative Body meeting in regular session on this 19th day of June, 2017, a quorum being present and a two-thirds (2/3) majority voting in the affirmative, that:

Section 1: Effective the 1st day of July, 2017, following the final passage of this Resolution the privilege tax on litigation on all civil and criminal cases filed in Greene County shall be levied $22.50 per filing/case which is an additional $10.00 per filing/case as provided in this Resolution (which privilege tax shall be in addition to any other privilege taxes on litigation heretofore authorized and collected) to be used exclusively for and allocated to provide funding to the salaries and benefits for two General Sessions Court Judges.

To: Greene County Commissioners

To assist in overview of this year's budget, I have broken down into the following synopsis.

The wheel tax can be adjusted during each budget cycle. This rate as included in this budget is $42 to the Highway Department, $3 to Greene County Volunteer Fire Department Association for disbursement and $10 to General Fund. The Highway Department does not increase the allocation but maintains the current funding from wheel tax not combination wheel and property.

Requested are the following personnel:

- An additional General Sessions Court Judge with proposal to fund from litigation tax and transfer $40,000 from current Juvenile Referee.
- The addition of a Juvenile Court officer.
- The Insurance Committee has recommended bringing the County Attorney on full time with cost being budget neutral from current funding and insurance fund.
- The Insurance Committee also recommends bringing on a Human Resource Director. This will be funded 2/3 (two thirds) from insurance fund for management fee from clinic and balance from General Fund.
- An additional Building Inspector to improve the response to debris complaints and facilitate building inspections.
- An additional Animal Control Officer. That position is requested from two segments. One to reduce compensatory time off, as employees have to respond on weekends for cleaning, leaving short staffed during the week. The more critical is Health Department inspector is currently having difficulty inspecting restaurants, hotel/motel and other required facilities due to increasing numbers and responsibilities associated with animal bites.
- Finally, with the retirement of Kathy Noel in U.T. Extension, the current shared funding formula by U.T. requires the County to pick up additional funding for benefits. As you may know, if we fail to fund a position at our requested rate to get the position returned requires County to fund at 100%.

Project Goals:

1. Provide students with access to reading materials that are interesting and relevant to their interests and curriculums to increase school-wide literacy.
2. Create a media center that promotes collaboration and cooperative learning among students and once again brings the library media center back to the heart of education in order to see gains in AP enrollment, AP scores, and ACT scores.
3. Construct a makerspace designed to provide students with the opportunities to become creative, innovative, and risk-takers to prepare them for post-secondary opportunities and increase not only their ACT composite scores but also their STEM ACT scores.
4. Afford opportunities for students to become advocates for traditional literacy, presentation literacy, and information literacy.

Project Purpose and Rationale:

Students are learning much differently than they have in previous years, and a large part of this can be attributed to advancements in technology. It has changed the way students look for information and the pedagogies of educators. In Greene County Schools, our libraries look much the same as they did in the 1950s and 60s; however, the needs of students have changed greatly since that time. In response to a need to evolve with students and/or patrons, libraries have begun adding makerspaces. In a makerspace, students may create, invent, and learn at his or her own pace to produce a high-definition video clip, print a 3D model, build a robot, repair a computer, create a piece of vinyl art, or even fix a hem on pair of pants. These makerspaces have increased library patronage while at the same time allowing students multiple means of demonstrating what they have learned from their classes and demonstrate innovation beyond the standard curriculum. Although these projects and their needed tools are diverse, they reflect the needs and interests of the C-DHS students. It is Chuckey-Doak High School's mission to provide quality instruction to students to help them become life-long learners and contributors to their communities.

While the school holds high standards, the student population of C-DHS is unfortunately on the majority economically disadvantaged with 57.7% qualifying free or reduced lunch in 2015. However, according to Hancock (2003), a strong library program that is adequately staffed, resourced and funded can lead to higher student achievement regardless of the socio-economic or educational levels of the adults in the community; test scores are higher when there is higher usage of the school library; collaborative relationships between classroom teachers and school librarians have a significant impact on learning, particularly in relation to the planning of instructional units; a print-rich environment leads to more reading and free voluntary reading is the best predictor of comprehension, vocabulary growth, spelling and grammatical ability and writing style; libraries can make a positive difference in students' self-esteem, confidence, independence and sense of responsibility in regards to their learning. It is by updating the library that C-DHS wishes to provide equality in terms of student access to materials and lay the foundation for students to build a love of reading and creating, which will blossom into a love of learning.

The major purposes behind this project are to improve the student resources in the school library, construct a comfortable space within the library that promotes reading, and increase student use of the library. Because much of the library's holdings and the library itself are dated, there is a desperate need for an update to bring it into the twenty-first century to realize the library's potential as a media center. In order to move the library into the more modern media center, C-DHS needs to add new technologies in the form of a makerspace along with updating the library collection and furnishings. By doing this, it is our hope that more student collaboration will occur for project-based learning, more teacher collaboration that will build cross-curricular connections, and more students will become the promoters of various types of literacy. According to Barrett (2010), achievement scores increase when the number of professional librarians and support staff are present; quality information is distributed from the library into the homes and classrooms; the school librarian encourages reading; collaboration occurs between the librarian and the faculty; information literacy skills are taught; and school librarians are leaders within their schools (p. 136). In regards to this, C-DHS wants to begin to promote these ideas among the students and staff by encouraging collaboration among the faculty, students, and school librarian. However, limited resources have hindered our abilities to offer such programs.

Project Objective/Activities:

Describe the objective of the project; what the project is to achieve, create, deliver. Please identify who will derive a direct benefit from the outcome. Be specific.

Engaging literacy is one of the largest challenges for the twenty-first century classroom or library. Nonetheless, it can be done but it requires inviting students and providing chances to see the value of wanting education. To pique students' interests, one plan of action is to give the library a "face lift" so that students want to visit the space. Bookstores and libraries are popular locations for students to congregate simply because they have cafés, the space is inviting, and they offer various activities related to learning. In short, it is the atmosphere readers seek. The reality is a book store like Barnes and Noble is not in Greeneville, and our local library is limited in terms of the opportunities it affords teenagers. Furthermore, many of our students do not come from a background that provides with them with the luxury of visiting such a place which does. However, it can become a daily opportunity with the transformation of the C-DHS school library. We want to provide a service and a product our students both want and need in a comfortable environment that invites students to enjoy a literary experience and share that experience with peers and the community. Our students not only need books and tools but motivation to read, explore, and create. They need to see the value of what a book and solid research can offer by making literacy truly a hands-on experience, but the first step must be to convince them to come in the door because the reality, as cliché as it may be, is we do judge books by their covers. Therefore, we would like to incorporate a book lover's café into the library, create a literary lounge which will be home-like space where students would feel encouraged to "curl up with a good book," add student-created murals and art, and add a makerspace. Furthermore, it is our hope that monies made from the café could assist in maintaining funds for our collection and makerspace, much like has been the case for other high schools in our region.

In addition to creating a more inviting space, another key strategy in building literacy skills is to incorporate the makerspace, which would allow students to explore real-world challenges and encourage collaboration for project-based research and learning. In both the library and in English Language Arts classrooms, it is our hope that the students will be interested in working with technology to promote books they are reading either in their ELA classes or for pleasure by making book trailers (much like movie previews), creating posters, and simply sharing their reviews. Having students create the promotional material and sharing such will increase students' interest in reading while developing essential skill sets—traditional literacy, information literacy, and presentation literacy. One idea is to encourage students to write proposals and scripts and gain approval from their teacher(s) and/or the librarian before using the green screen and media equipment in the makerspace. By having to create these “book trailers,” students will be doing research and thinking more critically than they would with the standard pencil and paper assignment. They will be performing and see the text and their ideas come to life: this concept allows for a total engagement of nearly all forms of literacy. By requiring such, traditional literacy, information literacy, and presentation literacy are all promoted within the makerspace. These promotional videos could then be aired as commercials on the school's news broadcast, which is produced by the future C-DHS audio-visual course that will share equipment with the library's makerspace. Moreover, this media aspect of the makerspace would create opportunities not only for the future audio-visual course and English classes but also for science teachers, especially those teaching AP Biology and AP Chemistry. In the sciences, it would be ideal to have students create “videos and/or podcasts” of their experiments to bring learning to “the green screen.” With such technology, the students could share their videos, which could limit the expense of AP labs without sacrificing quality education. In keeping with the popularity of the school's growing choral program, C-DHS would like to add a musical component to the makerspace. Students could write, record, and produce their own musical creations and share those with the student body. These same presentation concepts could be easily applied to various other disciplines within the school. Our students desperately lack information literacy and presentation literacy, both of which are critically related to traditional literacy. They fail to understand appropriate, reliable websites and other research media. By giving them the chance to share projects, we encourage them to seek accuracy and understanding of not only what they have read but also of what they have learned.

With the makerspace, we have a desire to create an additional science and technology connection with a 3D printer, which will be an in-kind contribution from Greene County. However, a computer will still be needed to operate the printer and its software. We realize a 3D printer would encourage students to create awesome designs that could be brought into existence. For example, a student in AP Chemistry could build a 3D model of a molecule to add a professional visual to his/her report or presentation. Students participating in the engineering classes could see their CAD drawings become full models with the addition of such. Their designs could go from the conceptual to tangible. In addition to the 3D printer and its awesome capabilities, C-DHS would like to add makerspace electronics so that students can learn to code and build; products like Arduino, Lego Mindstorms, MakeyMakey, Drawdio, and Raspberry Pi are current considerations. It is with the makerspace that C-DHS hopes that students will take an interest in STEM related classes, and the school will see an increase in ACT scores.

Another idea C-DHS is considering is reordering the library's holdings. The library is organized as traditional Dewey Decimal. However, in regards to increasing circulation of books, other libraries in our region have re-structured their libraries' fiction section to be in genres, which has in turn increased their circulation statistics. This is also true for other libraries including public ones such as the Charlotte Mecklenburg Library in Charlotte, North Carolina. Keeping this in mind, the library at C-DHS would like to change from the traditional Dewey organization to this genre-based structure to emulate their successes. Furthermore, it is also our desire to add new titles to our collection so that students feel encouraged to read pieces that are of high interest to them and inspire their creativity.

Finally, one necessary aspect for turning the library into a true media center that invites collaboration is to have mobile furniture and a mobile lab with laptops capable of performing the functions of desktops. There is a lab within the library but its machines are dated, resulting in limited capabilities. Also, the lab is fixed, which does not allow students to collaborate with each other as they must remain in front of their single computer. By allowing for laptops and mobile furniture, this is easily changed. In Jennifer Gonzales' article, she claims her library increased its student usage by one thousand percent by working to develop personalized learning for students. With a mobile lab and furniture conducive to collaboration, C-DHS can do the same. According to the article, "On an average day, over a hundred students will visit to work on projects, make use of interactive technologies, film and edit videos, and yes, check out books." In this, it is obvious that the technology is key to bringing students into the space and the furniture is the ticket to the collaboration. With a makerspace, new books, and an inviting space that caters to students' needs, C-DHS will make strides in educating our students and developing their literacy skills.

Strategic Context:

The major purposes of this project are to increase traditional literacy, informational literacy, and presentation literacy at Chuckey-Doak High School in an effort to be able to increase our Advancement Placement course offerings so that the school can see an improvement in not only its ACT scores, especially STEM, but also the school-wide literacy scores. C-DHS students deserve to be educated to their fullest potential so that they are truly college and career ready. Advancement Placement courses rely on the premise of challenging high school students to perform on a collegiate level in pursuance of a college credit, and a makerspace and encouragement to read afford students those self-directed opportunities. For the AP student, he or she must be able to read, write, research, and think critically beyond the standard curriculum, which again are skill sets the makerspace fosters. A 2009 study by the College Board boasts the following:

For example, a study by Willingham and Morris (1986) found that students who took an AP Exam, regardless of performance, were more likely to earn a B average during their first year of college as compared to students who did not take any AP Exams. This was true even after controlling for academic ability. Furthermore, a study by Dougherty, Mellor, and Jian (2006) found that students who performed well (i.e., earned a score of 3 or higher) on at least one AP Exam in English, mathematics, science, or social studies were more likely to graduate from college in five years as compared to students who took no AP Exams, who received a score of 1 or 2, or who took an AP course but not the corresponding exam. Additionally, students who scored a 1 or 2 graduated at a higher rate than the "No AP" group. Again, this was true even after controlling for academic ability and other student or school characteristics (Mattern, Shaw, & Xiong, 2009).

From this, it is obvious that a means of offering students post-secondary opportunities is to prepare them all for AP level courses in order to make them truly college and career ready. Unfortunately, one of C-DHS's primary concerns is many students are not reading at the levels needed to be successful in high school, which puts them at a major deficit for post-secondary education. A second concern is students' abilities to work collaboratively in groups to complete long-term projects. Therefore, it limits advanced placement opportunities as students are not prepared for the programs and are under-achieving on the ACT. In order to address these concerns, C-DHS wants capitalize research and findings related to school libraries, which could in turn focus on creating an environment that promotes many forms literacy and research competency.

Project Timeline:

State the proposed timeline for the completion of this project.

Spring/Summer 2017:

- Heavily weed the library to remove dated materials.
- Consult and collaborate with other regional libraries about popular book holdings.
- Remove larger bookshelves to open the space so that students have room to collaborate with each other for projects.
- Consult with students about designs for library murals. One senior has asked for it to be her service learning project; she is in the process of designing a mural.
- Paint murals in the library.
- Restructure the library's circulation desk to act as the barista's station.
- Purchase the coffee station for the book lover's café.
- Develop a literary latte menu among other coffee drinks and hot chocolates
- Reorganize the fiction section into genres.

Fall 2017:

- Set up a Twitter account for the school library that promotes materials and opportunities found in the school library.
- Set up the "Literacy Lounge," "the Book Lover's Café" and makerspace (begin in the spring and summer).
- Collaborate with ELA, journalism, and the audio-visual courses in order to promote books

Spring 2018

- A newly designed media center

Data Collection/Monitoring:

C-DHS will collect data in the form of circulation statistics, use of the makerspace, AP and ACT scores, and TN Ready Testing. In addition to these, we can also trace the success of our students from the clearinghouse program that was afforded to us from another grant.

Sustainability Plan:

As previously mentioned, it is our hope that the café can help to provide funds to maintain the activities in the maker space. In addition to this, the library will take part in fundraising activities such as book fairs, seek partnerships and sponsors within the community, and continually search for other grant opportunities to expand our program. Furthermore, Greene County Schools does provide the library with approximately $4.00 per student, which will be used to maintain the book collections as well as other materials.
